

LASIK for EVERYONE!

creative title

LASIK is a procedure that everyone with vision issues should invest in. LASIK is an eye surgery that corrects one's vision. LASIK stands for Laser-Assisted In Situ Keratomileusis. This surgery leaves a patient with perfect vision, in most cases. This means he/she no longer need contacts, saline, contact cases, glasses, or other excessive paraphernalia. LASIK changes lives.

Background Info / emotive

LASIK is a quick, outpatient procedure. The recovery time from LASIK eye surgery is 24 hours. In one case, a patient had LASIK, and the procedure was done at 7am on a Thursday. That patient went to a Reds game the next day (Friday evening). She saw results from the procedure immediately, and her vision continued to improve throughout the day. Patients only have to wear protective goggles for the first day, then they are able to resume everyday behavior. It's like one day they're blind, and the next day they can see as clearly as a jet fighter pilot. Therefore, people who are considering LASIK don't have to worry about taking several days off work or missing out on the things going on in life--they can keep going without missing a beat.

Additionally, LASIK isn't painful. The entire procedure only lasts an average of 24 minutes, 12 minutes per eye, and patients are awake for the entire procedure while the eye is numbed. They even let the patient's escort or parent watch the procedure while it's happening. By allowing someone to watch, the doctors are showing everyone how confident they are in their ability to perform the procedure. It also gives the patient a sense of comfort and a loved one is nearby, making them feel even less pain.

Many argue that LASIK is too expensive. But, at Dayton's LASIK Eye Center, the procedure was $2000 an eye, and many discounts are available. For example, teachers receive a $1000 discount. There are also financing plans available. It equals a little under
