

Parts of Speech Practice Paragraphs

Otis and his farm friends are enjoying a summer's day playing their favorite game, follow-the-leader. ~~But~~, the bull has no interest in making friends and delights in scaring the other animals.

Suddenly the day turns frightening: the birds stop chirping, the wind picks up, and the sky turns dark and stormy. OH NO! ~~It~~ is a tornado! Otis rouses a game of follow-the-leader and guides the farm animals to safety in the soggy bed of Mud Creek. But then Otis hears a cry in the distance—it's the bull, still locked in his pen! Quick as his tires will take him, Otis puts and puffs back to the farm to save the day.

Wow! Loren Lon's heroic little tractor returns in an all new adventure.

Homework:

Label each of the following in the paragraph. But wait until I tell you to do so... you will only have to do a few a night. Use a pencil so when we go over them in class you can make changes if necessary.
