

Name _____

Quarter 3 Week 5 Vocabulary—Your words for the week are underlined. Try to define the meaning of the word based on the other words in the sentence. Circle the words or phrases that helped you to define the word.

Then, determine if it is an adjective, noun, verb, or adverb.

1. The athlete had a very specific and superstitious pregame ritual; he always ate spaghetti for lunch, wore the same socks, and listened to the same music.
2. The artist's paraphernalia included brushes, palates, canvases and easels.
3. Sometimes a tingling sensation in the arm will precede a heart attack.
4. The doctor looked at the patient and gravely told him that if he didn't change his eating habits and quit smoking, death was right around the corner.
5. A popular college tradition at University of Wisconsin is that during the 3rd quarter of every football game, the song "Jump Around" is played, and the student section all jumps up and down.

6. I could tell by her perfunctory revision that she was not going to do well on her paper; she finished self-editing in 2 minutes and didn't polish or add anything new to her paper.

7. My demand to stay home and skip the party was discarded, and therefore my son lost his driving privilege for one month.

8. I defiantly stomped upstairs and slammed my door after I was told that I could not go to Starbucks with my friends.

Quarter 3 Week 5 Vocabulary (“The Lottery”)

1. Ritual—

2. Paraphernalia—

3. Precede—

4. Gravely—

5. Tradition—

6. Perfunctory—

7. Discarded—

8. Defiantly—